Braud Named Chief Deputy Treasurer

Lisa Braud, a lifelong resident of Gloucester and a longtime employee of the Gloucester Treasurer's Office, was recently named Chief Deputy Treasurer of the Department.

"I am so excited to have the opportunity to promote someone of Lisa's caliber into the Chief Deputy position," said Gloucester Treasurer Tara Thomas. "Lisa has been a constant in the Treasurer's Office during my career, and her knowledge and skills are very well suited to her new position."

Braud hosts over 26 years of experience working for the Treasurer, initially starting with the Department in 1994. "I really have enjoyed my lengthy career working with the County and I look forward to capitalizing on my experience in this new role," Braud said.

"Lisa brings a vast amount of knowledge in all facets of the Treasurer's Office to the Chief Deputy position," Thomas added. In her new role, Braud will be responsible for assisting in the overall administration and management of the Department, including personnel functions. She will also oversee and direct accounting and financial reporting operations and more.

Braud succeeds Maria Calloway, who remains with the County as the Fiscal Services Manager in the Fiscal Services Department. Braud is married with a grown son.
