County Urges Public Participation in Budget Process

Earlier this month, Gloucester's County Administrator Carol Steele presented her proposed budget for the County for fiscal year 2023-2024. This week and next week, members of the public will have multiple opportunities to provide input to the County's Board of Supervisors on the proposed budget and any changes they would like to see.

The first opportunity will be Wednesday, March 22, when public hearings on the proposed budget and proposed tax rates will be held in the T.C. Walker Education Center's Auditorium. The public hearings will begin at 6 p.m.

A second, less formal opportunity to engage with board members will be Tuesday, March 28, as the Board hosts its Budget Town Hall. This also will take place at T.C. Walker beginning at 6 p.m. "During the public hearing, board members typically are able to just listen to what the public has to say, and it's a more formal setting," Steele said. "We really encourage folks to come out to the town hall to have a more open, back-and-forth dialogue with their board members regarding the budget proposals."

For those who cannot attend the meetings in person, comments will be accepted online by visiting www.gloucesterva.info/citizencomment, via phone by calling 804-824-2760, or via mailing to: "County Administration ATTN: Citizen/Public Hearing Comment," 6489 Main Street, Gloucester, VA 23061.

The County Administrator's proposed budget can be found on the County's website at www.gloucesterva.info. The budget is expected to be adopted April 17. For more information, contact County Administration at 804-693-4042 or county.administrator@gloucesterva.info.
