Gloucester’s Voter Registrar’s office will reopen to the public on Monday, June 15 in its newly expanded space, designed to accommodate recent changes to State code, and facilitate a safer, more convenient voter experience. The Registrar’s office is still located in the same County Office Building #1 but is now on the first floor of the building rather than the second floor. With the COVID-19 pandemic still a concern, citizen’s access inside the building will be limited and curbside voting for the June 23 Primary Election is still encouraged.

According to Bobbi Morgan, Gloucester’s Voter Registrar, detailed signage will be in place guiding members of the public how to access the new location from the parking lot. Signage as to how to take advantage of curbside voting will remain in place. The new office space has been designed to allow for a natural flow of voters to enter the office in one side, vote, and then exit through another portion of the building.

Morgan said that she doesn’t anticipate a large influx of voters coming into the office in the coming weeks, as over 765 voters have already taken advantage of absentee voting. She also reminded voters that all normal polling locations will be open on Election Day from 6 a.m. until 7 p.m.

At those polling locations, Morgan asked for voters’ patience, as there will be well seasoned voting officials at each precinct but because of the virus, a limited number of them. “Many of our election officers are upwards in age but are still willing to put themselves out there and assist in the democratic process,” Morgan said. “I am really grateful for them.” She also said the Medical Reserve Corps will be assisting at the polling locations to help in social distancing and sanitization efforts.
